EB literature and a DebRA shop is now available on the DebRA website

DebRA is the only national patient support group and medical research charity in the UK, working on behalf of people living with EB. DebRA relies entirely on voluntary donations. DebRA groups have now been established in 32 countries around the world.

People affected by EB not only rely very heavily on DebRA funded international research to provide a long term answer to the condition, but are also very dependent on the range of specialist support services provided by the charity, including:

- Specialist EB nurses and social care workers who are able to visit children and adults in their homes and hospitals.
- Special multidisciplinary clinics, where EB nurses, consultants, dentist, surgeon, dietician and other specialists all see the patient.
- Provision of welfare grants in exceptional circumstances.
- Holiday accommodation for families living with EB.
- Advice, support and advocacy to those living with EB.
- Advice, clinical support and publications for other healthcare professionals.
